

Wine Club November 2016: “In Victory and Defeat”

Welcome to the November 2016 Wine Club Mail-out. We have three fantastic options for you to choose from this month to help you celebrate the coming of the warmer weather. Our offers contain new releases, a few limited release items exclusive to you, and lots on inspiration for the Christmas season ahead. Of course, as always you can personalise your own pack as well. So without further adieu here is the list of goodies!

International Selection

It was Napoleon Bonaparte who famously said, “In victory you deserve Champagne, in defeat you need it”.

It’s no wonder he spent so much time in the historic region.

We are excited to share with you that in September next year, we will be enjoying a glass or two of bubbles alongside the infamous hospitality of the Champenoise. Fran was the 2016 recipient of the $10,000 Don Martin Fellowship for her proposal to study the grower/producer business model in Champagne. To celebrate this wonderful opportunity, and to bring you on this journey with us, we simply had to have a Champagne theme for the November International Selection!

We have a selected two outstanding and contrasting grower/producer wines for you, the Pierre Peters NV Reserve Blanc de Blanc NV and the Vilmart Grand Reserve NV.

The Pierre Peters Réserve is quite powerful but never heavy. The current release is based on 2012, with 50% reserve wines dating back to 1988. This producer has enjoyed a truly stratospheric rise over the last 10 to 15 years and is now one of the most well thought of producers anywhere in Champagne.

Vilmart Proprietor Laurent Champs makes some of the most elegant, refined

Champagnes you are likely to come across. All of the Champagnes are aged in oak, which plays an important part in the Vilmart signature. Few growers are as skilled in finding the perfect balance of fruit, structure and oak.

Winemakers Selection (Default pack)

We have a delicious selection from our range for the Winemakers Selection, so if you enjoy the luxury of letting us decide for you, you will be richly rewarded this month!

The 2013 Naissante Riesling is showing some delicious bottle age, adding to its richness, and enticing complexity. This wine is really hitting its straps now, so we have included two bottles for you to enjoy. We only have a few cases left of the outstanding 2014 Delamere Pinot Noir so have included a lucky last bottle of this, plus one bottle of the soon-to-be released 2015 vintage. Fresh, lifted, and delicate we see this wine as capturing the essence of 'Pinosity'. Our other new releases, the 2015 Delamere Chardonnay, 2016 Delamere Rosé and 2013 Delamere Cuvee have all been getting rave reviews by wine media and customers to our cellar door. We are certain you will have plenty to enjoy here throughout the remainder of Spring.

Collectors Selection

This Selection, which comes in one of our beautiful wooden Delamere boxes, contains the last of our 2013 Block Pinot Noir and Chardonnay plus two bottles of our newly released 2015 Delamere 'Hurlo's' Rosé. All three wines have received amazing reviews from wine media, so we thought we'd give you one last chance to put some away, or just treat yourself!

Here's a snippet of what they've been saying:

2013 Delamere Block 3 Chardonnay

“Fresh as the proverbial daisy, you can see why it was held for a year before release. Fruit acidity and oak have been calculated down to the last microgram. It is flawless and can be enjoyed to it’s fullest now or in 7 years – 96 points.” - James Halliday

2013 Delamere Block 8 Pinot Noir

“Full-bodied, precariously balanced on the cusp of excess ripeness/alcohol but will get away with it. It is very complex (dark berries) and texture terms, and has time on its side to expand its wings – 94 points” - James Halliday

2015 Delamere ‘Hurlo’s’ Rosé

“Fran Austin and Shane Holloway from Delamere Vineyard in Tasmania have released Australia’s most expensive pink wine as a tribute to a much-loved and sorely missed man. The wine is the 2015 Hurlo’s Rose. Made from pinot noir grapes grown on the oldest section of the Delamere block and fermented in French oak barrels, it’s a brilliant drink: just the palest bronze colour in the glass, with enticing floral, gentle berry and woody spice aromas and a rich, creamy, deeply satisfying flavour and texture on the tongue. ” - Max Allen
